

Thematic Working Group on Behavioural Change

This working group is integrated by representatives of 16 European projects. It is dedicated to exploring the topics of behavioural and structural change as means to deal with the challenges of the current multi-crisis era.

The group collects experiences and reflections on current knowledge on approaches, methodologies, and tools to drive behavioural change.

From these exchange and collaborative documentation efforts, the Group aims to provide valuable recommendations and stepping stones for future research projects and other initiatives addressing climate change from a social angle.
