

Thematic Working Group on Distributional Consequences of Climate Policy

MAIA is exploring the possibility of establishing a Cluster Group on this topic. The Group would comprise representatives of climate research projects and initiatives beyond Europe and selected counterparts from European projects.

The intention is to provide a new space for open exchange and friendly interaction to uncover opportunities for learning and exchange. Particularly on how certain climate research and policy aspects might be perceived, handled, and/or prioritised differently in other regions of the world.
